

Half The Story

Worlds Apart

Maybe I'm wrong, maybe you're right
Maybe it's just one of these nights
We fell apart
When we should have held together
Should have been warm but I was cool
I should have known, oh what a fool
When we should have been for ever

Just like a movie when you know the chips are down
You've got to realise it turns around
So just remember ...

Only half the story
Is over if you go
Only half the picture
There's half the film to show
If there's a happy ending, baby you should know
Because it's only half the story
If you go

Could have been right, could have been true
Could have been good, (just) seeing it through
We have a chance
If you'd only stop pretending
Look in my eyes, look in your heart
Why can't we cut straight to the part
When you come back
And we make a happy ending

Just like a movie when the future's looking dim
You've got to realise it turns around
So just remember ...

Just like a movie when the hero rides away
You've got to realise he turns around
So just remember ...
