

March April May

Wouter Hamel

The sun don't shine, my valentine is far across the ocean
My bed feels cold, my love's untold and I can't find the potion
The birds don't sing, it's almost spring but blizzards rage inside me
I hibernate and hide away till the sun comes out to find me

Cuz March April May, will wash away the gray
June and July, will make you soar up in the sky
March April May, will make you sing and sway
June and July, let's give love a try

I can't return, my bridges burned and sabotaged behind me
I've tried so hard, played all my cards, but fortune just can't find me
When stars align, we'll intertwine, but winterdays have tried me
I hibernate and hide away, till the sun comes out to find me

Cuz March April May, will wash away the gray
June and July, will make you soar up in the sky
March April May, will make you sing and sway
June and July, let's give love a try
March April May, will wash away the gray
June and July, will make you soar up in the sky
March April May, will make you sing and sway
June and July, let's give love a try

Cuz March April May, will wash away the gray
June and July, will make you soar up in the sky
March April May, will make you sing and sway
June and July, let's give love a try

March April May, will wash away the gray
June and July, will make you soar up in the sky
March April May, will make you sing and sway
June and July, let's give love a try

Let's give love a try (4x)