

Heart of Mine

X-Perience

The second you came into the room you took my breath away your eyes shone like the skies as if it was yesterday

Now it's been a long while since I last saw your face we were once as close as one but in so many different ways

Where have you been all this time when I was looking out for you cause now I've realized that my love for you was true

Is there a space and time for this lonely heart of mine?
Is there a space and time
for this silent heart of mine?
Was I just too blind to see that there was more to you and me?
Now I pray from to the lord above to lead me back to love

You told me to let go when I wanted to hold you tight thought this was all for show now I know I wasn't right

My heart it hurts when I think of the things that I've begun Can I ever make it up?
Can I right the wrongs I've done?

Can we go back to the place where we found a love so strong?
If I opened up my eyes I find you're in my arms where you belong

Is there a space and time
for this lonely heart of mine?
Is there a space and time
for this silent heart of mine?
Was I just too blind to see
that there was more to you and me?
Now I pray from to the lord above
to lead me back to love

This is not the end of the line this is just the way it has to be look in your heart an you will find a space and time for you and me

Yes, there is a space and time for this open heart of mine Yes, there is a space and time
for this silent heart of mine

I was just too blind to see
and I thank the Lord above I found the way back to love
