

Drunk in My Past

X

its the drunk in my past shuffling by like a train sounds on its track like a ride like a ride that don't last swears each drink is the last tells the same lie each night and breaks every promise til she makes me go crazy shes gonna drive me to drinking theres a drunk in my past the one who let me down who wasnt around when needed theres a drunk in my past who swears each drink is the last thought i give me another chance theres a drunk in my path each i go past my house while trying to find my way home my door way is blocked by doomsday for certain if your own key don't fit you know its curtains oh well never a dull moment never a moment passes when someone dull don't pass me by i love her like a sister that drunk that girl why i wish her all the best that's all that's left cause she took the rest one heck of a past