

Dark Shades of Blue

Xavier Rudd

So here we go
Here it comes again
The present time time, it's so mysterious
I'm facing south
From the northern hemisphere
The southern cross
For now has disappeared

I place it inside my brain
And shield it with everything
I see it come into you
You paint dark shades of blue

Here I go
Just me and my old mind
At times removed
Upcoming up inside
What present sends
Is so mysterious
It's mine to fight
Come spirit come defend

I place it inside my brain
And shield it with everything
I see it come into you
You paint dark shades of blue
