your magic's real so why aren't you using it you could have the world for yourself you don't ever have to worry about losing it the magic inside of you is infinite

when was the last time you drew a picture when was the last time that you touched a leaf when was the last time you tasted raindrops on your tongue on your big long tongue

your magic's real so why aren't you using it you could have the world for yourself you don't ever have to worry about losing it the magic inside of you is infinite

when was the last time that you bought a hot dog when was the last time you swam in a pond when was the last time that you climbed a lampost like a monkey with a [?] tail when was the last time that [?] when was the last time that you told a lie why is there a picture of a penis on your 'fridge door? it makes me feel awkward your magic's real so why aren't you using it you could have the world for yourself you don't ever have to worry about losing it the magic inside of you is infinite