

What About Us

Yeng Constantino

Waking up without you
Seems the saddest day of my life
Cause I'm used to see you smiling
Everyday I open my eyes and
Hearing your sweet voice calling my name
That's all I wanna hear everyday
Now you're gone how can it be the same
How can it be the same

What happened to us
Where is this thing called love

Is it my fault? Is it you or is it me
Is this goodbye or is this what we want us to be
What about the things that we have shared
What about the promise that you've said...and baby
What about us

I can imagine vividly the very first time
That you held me
It felt so right
I still can feel the way you've touched my face
And every night your sweet embrace
Oh why...

Are you thinking of me right now
Cause I'm going crazy
How can I mend this broken heart
Come on baby tell me
What I gotta do to understand
What I gotta do to make a stand...oh
