Yo La Tengo

On the verge of somewhere he wanted to be Thought he'd take a chance, thought he'd take a dive
He wandered away, wandered away from his nothing life
He wandered away, wandered away from his nothing life
Feeling sad and laughed at, misunderstood
Just how dry have I become
He wandered away, wandered away from his nothing life
He wandered away, wandered away from his nothing life
Passed the edge of nowhere he ever thought he'd be
He pressed down, and then he took the bait.
He wandered away, wandered away from his nothing life, his nothing life
