Before We Run

Yo La Tengo

Hold it in your arms, be still, pull there I'll hold you in mine before we run We can start to sing, I know it's odd Beliving in all of this, and then we run Running away from the end Running away from the end Running away to say

Orange clouds in full, the sky falls back Before we lose our mind Before we escaWe, ... line To fast, and wise Slowly like the storm And still we're there Running away from there Running away from there Running until we're there

Take me to a place where I'll need this Take me on the honest trial Speak to me words we can't erase Take me there, it's only us
