

Living in a Dream Is So Easy

Young Guns

I spent forever searching when I had no need to Kept trying to find myself in you
And now I finally see the thing that you could Sometimes you're better off without
The end doesn't always justify the means

Honestly, no I'm not quite sure I could ever understood a word
(Ever understood a word)
Cause honesty is off the books
In my experience, the truth is overrated
Our house of cards could never last
You're always misleading
And undeceiving
Down to repeating the past
And the end doesn't always justify the meaning

Honestly, no I'm not that sure I could ever understood a word
(Ever understood a word)
Cause honesty is off the books
(Honesty is off the books)
But living in a dream is so easy
(Honesty is off the books)
Yeah, living in a dream was so easy

It's time to tell the truth
The scene will fade to black
You never really loved what you never had
This is our final act
Cause I just wanna feel
I know it hurts, but at least it's
No I'm not quite sure I could ever understood a word
(Ever understood a word)
Cause honesty is off the books
(Honesty is off the books)
But living in a dream is so easy
(Honesty is off the books)
Well, living in a dream was so easy
(Honesty is off the books)
(Honesty is off the books)
