Youth Brigade

You think you know me you don't know shit talking about me have we even met don't wanna hear another word about me from youand if i do you'll curse the day you opened you mouth oh just let me be don't get close stay away form me i don't want your sympa thy don't need your help this is my life get the hell out you d on't need violence to hurt someone there are many ways to kill without taking a life the only hurt greater than heartbreak is death but at least when you die its usually quick i don't need anyone to tell me all the things i could have done if you're a friend you'll leave me alone