

Castaway

Yuna

Hold up
Got a minute for me, yeah
I know I just show up
Didn't know I got a call before
Maybe you could spare a minute
Sit down, you said
I got way too much confidence

Honestly, you didn't see the best in me
It feels like you're mocking me
And now I've gone off so far away
A castaway

But you don't even remember what you did back then, oh yeah
No, it didn't take forever for me to move on
Make it work
Somehow I know

Think about what we had
I guess I've always known I never had the chance
You were never gonna give me a fair shot, yeah
Leave it all in the past
No use tryna dig up all the good times
Too bad, you got way too much confidence

Honestly, it wasn't so hard to see
That you're not the one for me
Yeah, I'd rather be so far away
A castaway

Ayo, no point in lying
No point in trying anymore
Change in direction
And now I'm flying through the door
Am I being used?
Question kinda dumb
It's rhetorical
And some
At this point I wanna run
I don't need no handout
Ima cook solo and we'll see how it pan out
Maybe too hot I might have to bring the fan out
Now to drown you out
I ain't know it could blow that loud, damn
We don't work out
Beer belly is on horizon
You don't hear me now
You really don't have Verizon
Do we need sirens
Cause I need help
If I was a pair of pants I'd be looking for a belt
Cause you always bring me down
And I'm looking for an up
So it's gotten to a point where I do this shit myself
Am I being used?
Question kinda dumb it's rhetorical
And some, at this point I wanna run

Honestly, you didn't see the best in me
A castaway
