

Your Love

Yuna

I've looked around the world
The sky and all the Universe
For a love that's pure & true
So I can forget about you

I've walked a thousand miles
I've seen a million stars
And still the ocean breeze
Remind me of what we used to be

My heart is wanting me to run right back to you
My mind is telling me to go find something new
My body is tired cause I can't move on, yeah
And nothing compares to your love

Your love your love your love
Your love your love your love
Your love your love your love

All the sunsets through the night
Drifting into the morning light
Memories of you they fill my mind
You stand still in space & time

My heart is wanting me to run right back to you
My mind is telling me to go find something new
My body is tired cause I can't move on, yeah
And nothing compares to your love

Your love your love your love
Your love your love your love
Your love your love your love

Nothing compares to your love
Nothing compares to your love
Nothing compares to your love

My heart is wanting me to run right back to you
My mind is telling to go find something new
My body is tired cause I can't move on, yeah
And nothing compares to your love

(2x) :

Nothing compares to your love
Nothing compares to your love
Nothing compares to your love
