As we wait here for a sign we are greeted by the end of time, These streets aren't paved with gold,
You are my everything,
My soul is growing cold