Lobotomy for Dummies

Zebrahead

You can lie to me and say it's you I adore You can poison me and drown me on the shore You can kick me again when I'm down on the floor Give me some more You say I'm desperate and if I'm desperate At least I'm honest At least I own it And if I'm desperate Reap what you sow Give me some more! Give me some more!

She said, thanks for my misery Then I said, Hell needed company, and maybe a new lobotomy would make easier to throw it all away She said, "I wish you were dead"

Left me out in the gutter to settle a score Poured salt on my wounds when my stitches tore And now I'm giving it back cause payback's a whore I'm slamming the door I'm slamming the door Cuz now I'm over And since I'm over it Ill be honest I think you're heartless I think you need this Reap what you sow I'm slamming the door! I'm slamming the door!

She said, thanks for my misery Then I said, Hell needed company, and maybe a new lobotomy would make easier to throw it all away She said, "I wish you were dead"

You can lie to me and say it's you I adore You can poison me and drown me on the shore You can kick me again when I'm down on the floor Give me some more Give me some more Left me out in the gutter to settle a score Poured salt on my wounds when my stitches tore And now I'm giving it back cause payback's a whore I'm slamming the door I'm slamming the door

She said, thanks for my misery

Then I said, Hell needed company, and maybe a new lobotomy would make easier to throw it all away She said, "I wish you were dead"