

State of the moment

Zeraphine

when i think about you i remember all the times we ran away and we never cared about the things we left behind and no one ever could believe · that we're finally leaving the state of the moment is lost while the seconds pass we'll not stay for this moment, it's lost i've torn out my heart

the sun is black a reflection in your eyes all the wasted tears unite in oceans but we're drowning in the air and no one ever could believe · that we're finally leaving