

I Am Here

Zero Hour

Life has changed me, reality, the driving force

To stare it in the eye so deep, impossible for human eyes

The barrier the mind creates, seems unbreakable inside your head

The pain the heart sustains, is there an end? Is there an end?

Is there an end?

Time races faster, I can't catch my breath, so I push aside the negative

To grab a hold of reality, I will never give in

No, I will never give in

Life has changed me

For the real man is alive, I am alive

Free me, I am not to be held down

All this life I have to give, please allow

My God, please help me now, I need a sign

To carry on, I need You, I need You

Now the tide rolls ever gently to the shore

And the moon draws ever closer to my soul

As I stare closely to the sky

Peace finds a home

My heart has grown so strong

For this battle I have won

I will never give in, I will not fail, no

For life is life, and I am here