

Sold You A Lie

Zion

Your boyfriend told you it would be alright
And all your friends are doin' it in the dark of the night
They say you're gonna like the way it makes you feel
But how do you deal with the guilt and pain that's so real?
You see no end in sight, c'mon! And make it right
Somebody sold you a lie
Will you listen to this or will you be surprised?
And all your friends said it would be alright
As long as you believe in God you can do what you want on a Friday night
So you do what they call fun
But tell me do you feel empty when the morning comes
Somebody sold you a lie
Will you listen to this or will you be surprised?
You can't even believe the people that you idolize
'Cause somebody sold you a lie
In the heat of it all we compromise our faith
As the tension builds we break
