Tower

Grown pieces of slandered youth Told to wonder but never worry about the truth The earth feels so raw in these little hands Could it be that they're the ones who understand

So take a big leap forward And take that old step back Cause we are on the edge of something Something bigger than we expect

I am not alone in this tower Keeping us in good time Maybe if only for an hour Just to keep us satisfied And it feels like I'm the only one

The moon moves in the only direction The only one we know As it runs against us It fills the void in us all

So lift your arms up for the mistaken Throw in the way of the call Carry fruit into the garden Bring the seed into us all And it feels like I'm the only one

I am not alone in this tower Keeping us in good time Maybe if only for an hour Just to keep us satisfied And it feels like I'm the only one
