

Luster so sheen it pulls you in
Frets on the harpoons
It moves, it moves around you

Sickle the cells of our pains
Grow in deeper, deep the stains of
Our youth, our youth imbued

Grass comes in through the tongues
Of the sorry words we sprung
On you, on you it fuels

And it surrounds everything
And it surrounds all your dreams
And it will take you to fears
You never knew

Running sycophants all our limbs
Attaches us on as if we have no use
No use to let it refuse

Pick up the wires of our sins
Filter them into our benign truths
It fools, it fumbles in tune

And it surrounds everything
And it surrounds all your dreams
And it will take you to fears
You never knew

And it settles in, settles in
Till you forget everything
Everything, everything
And it white wash
Into your skin
And you won't remember none
And you won't remember none