The Blessing

She comes in waves. When we crash, we break Head floats away and swells Just like an ocean Are we hollow? Gone when winds blow If it dies alone, can I call it my own? Soaked to the bone, My heaven has descended I've seen deadly but beautiful catastrophes Will she die or just asphyxiate? As the waters swallow us whole Will an angel come again? No more demons screaming loud As the waters swallows us Liquid fill empty lung Shadow eye seething teeth Biting off poison tongues Hypnotized into sleep
