

People That You Must Remember

Zulu Winter

Look by our love of heat
We young men came to your door
And kicked our ...
Till we could kick no more
I bleed ...you smile soft
And we all swag it off
We hold love and smash tones
in places that he lost

These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember

Our love needs... of age
Show them...
We may be young and clean
A fist to clench so tight
Not so loud but are songs that you might...
We lay long, and... deception on our time.

These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember
These are the people that you must remember
