

Declarations of Faith

Zwan

This man you love
this boy you hate
the hills are his
in all embrace enchanted
and not soon lost
this man you call
with lover's draw
so coarse in kind
it can't be sought for leaving
is what I do

I declare myself
declare myself of faith
I declare myself

Everyone that wanted, can we weep once, baby
'cause no one hears them someone always thought a good reason, baby describe a river
affirm my powers, spend my dollars, to get us home and yeah, I've got no money, got no secrets

Maybe we were born to kiss another maybe we were born to run forever or maybe we were born to come together, or whatever kiss me alone

This boy you chance this man you'll find will dry the tears
behind your eyes
so stop laughing
and play the muse
this heartache rots
that which spills from my heart into your will so give in to the rivers wind

I declare myself
I declare myself

so they can to testify for every single ghost on that freeway, baby has got to give a mild holler to spend my dollars we've got to get away I've got no money, got no secrets

Maybe we were born to love each other

kiss me alone

Maybe we were born to love

kiss me alone

maybe we were born to love together
